Exercise 1.7.3

Show that if M is elementary matrix of type 1, then M^{-1} is the matrix that differs from M only in that it has a -m instead of a m in the (i, j) position. Notice that M^{-1} is the elementary matrix associated with the elementary operation that subtracts m times the jth row to the ith row.